Subject: Temporary ban on beef exports to the Philippines

Temporary Ban on export of beef, beef products and live bovine animals to the Philippines

Following the case of classical BSE confirmed in England on 17th September, the Filipino authorities have issued the 'Memorandum Order' in Annex 1 below, announcing a temporary ban on the import, into the Philippines, of cattle, beef and beef products from the UK. This was received in the early hours of Tuesday 5th October.

As you will see the 'Order' refers to a ban on all relevant exports from 4th October 2021, therefore no Export Health Certificates can be signed from this date.

This ban will impact consignments in transit, however those consignments which contain product slaughtered and produced before, up to and including August 31st should still be able to be imported into the Philippines.

8055EHC for export of beef to the Philippines has been put on hold by APHA and DAERA, while certificates for the products listed below will only be issued once confirmed that they do not contain products of bovine origin. For these commodities it is essential that full traceability checks are carried out to ensure that no bovine material is present.

- 8127EHC: blood products
- 9646EHC: hides
- 8076EHC: pet food

DAERA will contact exporters directly regarding any consignments which have been certified recently and are in transit, to clarify whether these consignments will be impacted by the ban, and to ascertain next steps.
